Vehicle registrations are increasing year on year, which is a crucial driver driving market growth.

Consumer purchasing power and strong economic growth are driving up demand for passenger cars and commercial vehicles in emerging markets such as Brazil, China, and India.

With the introduction of self-driving cars, the automobile industry has revolutionized. The license plates are the only thing that has stayed virtually unaltered throughout the last century.

However, license plates are undergoing significant changes.

Companies such as ReviverMx introduced the Reviver license plate, which resembles a tablet.

Smart electronic license plates have wireless connectivity, allowing them to rapidly update car registration and render license plate stickers unnecessary. Smart electronic license plates can also be linked to smart parking apps like "Smart Parking" and "Get My Parking." Tolls and parking fines can also be debited from the vehicle owner's bank account quickly with the use of the plate.
