The growth of the scrub suits market is attributed to the rapid developments in the healthcare sector. The healthcare sector is considered to be the most critical aspect of the economy. As per the Office for National Statistics (ONS), the capital expenditure on the healthcare sector by both public and private sectors in the UK was approx. US$ 8.57 billion. Further, according to the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS), healthcare spending in the US increased by 4.6% in 2018 as compared to the previous years. This is representing more than US$ 3.6 trillion, with the spending in hospital care accounting for more than USD 1.19 trillion. Hence, it is quite evitable that the developed and developing economies are strongly focused toward the development of healthcare sector.

The rising prevalence of chronic diseases has resulted in an increase in the number of hospital visits and re-admissions. Moreover, the factors such as the growing incidence of hospital-acquired diseases, escalating number of surgical procedures, rising concern about hygiene, and rapid changes in people's lifestyles continue to fuel the growth of the healthcare sector. Furthermore, the rising incidence of lifestyle diseases; increasing demand for affordable healthcare; and emergence of technologies, such as telemedicine, are bolstering growth of the sector. As a result, manufacturers have come up with advanced devices, equipment, and functional apparels to suit working environments. Hence, the demand for scrub suits is rising with the growing sense of professionalism along with increasing focus on safety at medical facilities. Therefore, the rapid growth in healthcare sector is contributing to the scrub suits market growth.

Impact of COVID-19 Pandemic on Scrub Suits Market

The ongoing COVID-19 pandemic has altered the status of the scrub suits industry. The outbreak has distorted operational efficiency and disrupted the value chains due to the sudden shutdown of national and international boundaries. However, amid pandemic, the demand for scrub suits has increased globally due to the rising consciousness toward health along with growing awareness related to protection from microbial infection. However, the focus over just-in-time production is hindering the growth of the scrub suits market. On the other hand, rising importance for protecting both workers and patients from hospital-acquired infections and increasing prevalence of COVID-19 would propel the demand for scrub suits during the forecast period.

Additionally, several companies have come forward to support the aggravating demand for scrub suit during the COVID-19 pandemic. Further, effective measures taken by various associations, such as Industrial Fabrics Association International, backed by positive government initiatives to safeguard frontline healthcare workers is expected to generate the demand for scrub suits in the coming years. Further, significant investments by prominent companies in the development of advanced products is another factor supporting the market growth.
