PORTLAND, 5933 NE WIN SIVERS DRIVE, #205, OR 97220U, UNITED STATE, May 2, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Beard oil is a cosmetic product that nourishes the skin under beard and helps in grooming and softening of the beard hair. Beard is easily prone to attract dirt and bacteria of various kinds, making it look dirty. Hence, beard oil helps in making the beard look shiny and soft.

Beard oil contains various ingredients, carrier oils, and essential oils. Carrier oils present in beard oil include coconut, jojoba, almond, grape seed, or/and argan oil. In addition, this oil also contains essential oils such as pinewood, sandalwood, eucalyptus, and fir needle. These oils act as moisturizers for skin and provide ease against itching or dry skin problems in individuals. It also helps in keeping skin hydrated. Some beard oils also contain certain vitamins, nutrients, and certain natural or synthetic scents, which enhance properties and aroma of the beard oil.

Further beard oil can be of two types synthetic and organic. Consumer are more inclined toward organic beard oil, owing to certain side effects or skin issues caused by few synthetic beard oils.

aspects. Thus, the global beard oil market it is expected to grow significantly during the forecast year.

COVID-19 Scenario Analysis:

The COVID-19 outbreak has affected the beard oil market to some extent.

The COVID-19 pandemic has led to a decline in the Beauty and Personal Care (BPC) industry, however, the impact is not much severe.

Salons are shut in almost every country and people are not able to go out for personal care and grooming.

This lockdown situation has led to a halt on demand for beard oil in beauty salons.

However, in home care applications, demand for beard oil has seen growth through online distribution channels.

Supply chain disruption, halt in export-import activities, and logistics slowdown are the major problems faced by the beauty and personal care industry.
