When you travel, 90% of the time, things go the way you expect. The other 10%? That's where you're tested. It's an opportunity to discover what you're made of. A chance to feel alive.”

In his talk, Thor shares personal stories and insightful lessons on how embracing the chaos on vacation can lead to the most unforgettable memories. Using neuroscience and real-life experiences, Thor demonstrates the importance of having an open mind and being receptive to unplanned events, even when they seem inconvenient or disastrous at first.
