Customers can have a direct feeling about the business philosophy of Lensmart, which is adding value and meaning to shopping experience, just as what the CMO of Lensmart said. The eyewear retailer tends not only to offer products meeting consumers' needs, but to make this purchasing experience special and unique. No matter looking for eyeglasses or sunglasses, there is always a pair for the specific one. That is why they are called "personalized" glasses.

Besides, customers will get other frames with up to 50% off as they buy a pair of glasses. All prices are affordable as well as reasonable, and glasses in Flash Sale are starting at $6.95. Glasses under $10 are also common. "The strategy is to maintain the reasonable price with quality," said the CMO of Lensmart, "so that individuals have the chance to enjoy a right pair of glasses online."

At the such important period, what one buys gets different meanings and values. In the same way, what one buys on Mother's Day also expresses their feelings and emotions towards their mothers.
