Sensitivity to Sustainability

1). Diamond Polishing Through Solar Energy -

Hari Krishna Exports Pvt. Ltd. has taken several initiatives to reduce its carbon footprint and become more environmentally sustainable. One such initiative is using solar energy to power its diamond polishing operations. The company has installed several solar-powered plants on the roof of its factory that generates enough electricity to power its entire polishing operation. By using solar energy, the Indian diamantaires have reduced their dependence on non-renewable sources of energy and have significantly reduced their carbon emissions.

2). Diamond Traceability -

According to recent research, consumers in the jewellery industry are increasingly interested in sustainable and environmentally-friendly products. They are also more responsive to public events and sustainability-related industry communication. This highlights the need for the jewellery industry to prioritize sustainability and transparent communication to meet the demands of eco-conscious consumers.

Accordingly, Hari Krishna Exports Pvt. Ltd. is committed to ethical sourcing and responsible mining practices. The company sources its rough diamonds only from reputable suppliers who comply with an authorized scheme.

Hari Krishna Exports Pvt. Ltd. has a comprehensive system to track the origin and journey of each diamond it processes, from the rough origins to the final customer sale. Individuals can directly track their purchase and trace it back its origins. This ensures that the diamonds are ethically sourced and processed, enabling the company to provide customers with complete transparency and traceability.

2). Environmental Sustainability Practices at Hari Krishna Exports Pvt. Ltd. -

The Indian diamantaires Hari Krishna Exports Pvt. Ltd. not only do they offer an exquisite collection of natural diamonds and jewellery, but they are also committed to social welfare and environmental conservation.

Hari Krishna Exports Pvt. Ltd. is a part of the Hari Krishna Group, which includes the Dholakia

Foundation, a philanthropic arm dedicated to supporting society and preserving the environment through charitable and conservation activities.

Under the Dholakia Foundation, numerous initiatives have been taken, such as planting over 2.5 million trees, constructing 111 lakes, and providing irrigation facilities to farmers. The foundation adheres to Environmental, Social, and Governance (ESG) concerns, aligning each of its initiatives to the United Nations' Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). The foundation's holistic approach to social welfare and environmental conservation is a commendable example of how businesses can prioritize sustainability and social responsibility.

In addition, Hari Krishna Exports Pvt. Ltd. also takes care of its employees by providing them with various benefits such as skill development programs, health and wellness camps, free medical claim and death insurance policy, and even mass wedding ceremonies. The company is committed to women's empowerment, road safety, and social awareness, further reflecting its corporate social responsibility values.
