Lavish Pure Infused Face Serum

Deep-rooted Ontario history and homegrown charm meet spa-quality, luxury lavender-infused all-natural skincare products from Hereward Farms. What started as a whim for an Orangeville-area entrepreneur has led to a blossoming foray into the health and beauty market, stirring up excitement across North America. Hereward Farms revolutionizes the farm-to-table concept and takes it to a new level with farm-to-skin.

"I have always been careful what I put on my skin. When we decided to plant lavender, I knew the same ethics that went into planting our lavender with no chemicals or additives had to go into our all-natural skin care products."

Hereward's products use lavender grown in the fields of the family's farm in East Garafraxa and are infused with a proprietary method and produced on-site. The result is a line of high-quality, hand-made skincare and beauty products with incredible soothing, healing, and moisturizing properties. They're the kind of products you can't achieve on a production line in a factory.
