BRISBANE, QUEENSLAND, AUSTRALIA, May 10, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Eddy Andrews Public Safety Consulting Services, an Australian-based business, is proud to announce its latest offering - helping businesses implement effective workplace safety measures.

We understand the importance of workplace safety, and our team is committed to providing high-quality safety services that are tailored to the needs of each business we work with”

Edward Andrews

With a mission to create safer workplaces across industries, Eddy Andrews Public Safety Consulting Services is committed to providing comprehensive workplace safety solutions to businesses of all sizes. Led by Edward \(Ed\) Andrews, a seasoned safety professional with over 20 years of experience, the company offers a range of services including safety assessments, audits, training, and implementation of safety programs.

According to a recent report by Safe Work Australia, there were 182 work-related fatalities in Australia in 2019. This highlights the importance of workplace safety, and the need for businesses to implement effective safety measures. Eddy Andrews Public Safety Consulting Services helps businesses achieve this goal by providing tailored safety solutions that address specific workplace hazards and risks.

"We understand that every workplace is different, and therefore requires a customized approach to safety," said Ed Andrews, founder of Eddy Andrews Public Safety Consulting Services. "Our team of experts works closely with businesses to identify potential hazards, assess risks, and develop strategies to mitigate them. By implementing effective safety measures, businesses can not only reduce the risk of workplace accidents and injuries, but also improve productivity and employee morale."

Eddy Andrews Public Safety Consulting Services has already helped several businesses across Australia implement effective workplace safety measures. From conducting safety audits and risk assessments, to developing and implementing safety programs, the company has earned a reputation for providing comprehensive and reliable safety solutions.

"We are proud to have helped businesses across industries achieve their safety goals," added Andrews. "Our team is committed to providing high-quality safety services that are tailored to the needs of each business we work with."

In addition to its safety consulting services, Eddy Andrews Public Safety Consulting Services also provides safety training to businesses and their employees. From general safety awareness training to specific courses on topics such as hazardous materials and emergency response, the company offers a range of training options to suit the needs of each business.
