Situated in the heart of Utah's southern desert, Capitol Reef National Park is home to some of earth's most breathtaking geological wonders including massive natural arches, deep sandstone canyons, towering rock pillars, and the dazzling monoliths of Cathedral Valley. Journey with More Than Just Parks as we take you to a fascinating land dotted with geographic marvels and teeming with endless adventure.

Previous films have highlighted the Fishlake National Forest, Manti-La Sal National Forest, Dixie National Forest, Uinta-Wasatch-Cache National Forest, & Ashley National Forest.

Offering a fresh look at one of Utah's least-visited national parks, More Than Just Parks' Capitol Reef National Park film showcases the park in spectacular fashion. The accompanying guide details all of the best places to go and things to do in Capitol Reef National Park. The purpose of the video and guide is to showcase the unsung beauty and recreational opportunities that exist in the park and underscore the importance of protecting Utah's wild places so they can stay Forever Mighty®.

The following are key takeaways from the film & guide:

- Capitol Reef National Park is one of the least-visited national parks in Utah
- Activities covered include hiking, mountain biking, horseback riding, rugged driving
- The guide ranks Lower Cathedral Valley as the top thing to do in Capitol Reef National Park with the Strike Valley receiving high marks as well.

More Than Just Parks Co-Founder & film director, Will Pattiz, commented, "As one of Utah's least visited national parks, folks should bump Capitol Reef to the top of their list of Utah parks to visit. Millions less people visit Capitol Reef than Zion each year even though the scenery is equally spectacular."

Details About the Film & Guide:

- The production took place over a couple of weeks in Fall of 2022 with a release planned for Spring of 2023.
- Over 25,000 images were produced in the making of the film
- More than 3 terabytes of footage were created in the process
- The film was shot in 8K UHD
