Croatians are among the visa-exempt citizens who can visit Canada and apply for the Canadian eTA. Croatian citizens are required to apply for a Canada eTA visa to enter Canada for short-term for general tourism, business, transit or medical purposes. The Canadian government has published a list of countries whose citizens can enter the country without a standard visa. The Canadian government introduced the Canadian eTA (Electronic Travel Authorization) in 2016 to facilitate entry for foreign visitors. This is an online travel permit. It is valid for 5 years and grants Croatian citizens multiple entries with a permitted stay of up to 6 months at each visit. Croatian passport holders can apply for the Canadian eTA from the comfort of their home or office by accessing the online application form. The entire process takes less than 30 minutes from start to finish.

Czech citizens are among the nationalities exempt from a visa to visit Canada for tourism, business or simple transit purposes en route to another destination. The Canadian eTA is a valid online travel authorization. Citizens of the Czech Republic traveling to Canada are eligible to enter the country with a Canadian eTA (Electronic Travel Authorization). Czech citizens must apply for a Canada eTA visa to enter Canada for visits of up to 90 days for tourism, business, transit or medical purposes. The Canadian government introduced this online visa waiver in 2015 for select countries. It is valid for 5 years and grants Czech citizens a maximum stay of 6 months on each visit. This entry permit is available through an online application form that can be completed in minutes.

Whatever the reason for your travel to Canada, it is important to note that Finnish citizens require a visa waiver or visa before they can legally enter the country. Finnish citizens, like many other nationalities, do not need to apply for a visa when traveling to Canada for short visits. This is because the citizens of Finland are visa-free. Finnish citizens are required to apply for a Canada eTA visa for short-term entry into Canada for general tourism, business, transit or medical purposes. In 2016, the Canadian government introduced the Canadian eTA for Finnish citizens, which can be applied for via a simple online application, eliminating the need to visit an embassy to apply in person. An approved eTA for Canada is a multiple entry travel authorization allowing a total stay of up to 6 months with each entry. Once your Canadian electronic Permit has been issued, it will automatically be 'linked' to your Finnish passport. The beauty of the new Canadian eTA is that it's valid for five years (or until your passport expires, whichever comes first). The process of obtaining a Canadian eTA takes less than 30 minutes online, eliminating the need to visit an embassy or meet in person. Travelers can have their visa waiver approved in minutes.

French citizens can use their Canadian eTA for tourism, business, visiting family or transiting through Canada. Thanks to an online initiative by the Canadian government, French citizens no longer have to go through the lengthy application process to obtain a Canada visa waiver from France. The Canadian eTA for French passport holders, also known as Canada Electronic Travel Authorization, is a visa waiver. Since its launch in 2015, citizens of more than 50 visa-free countries are eligible to apply for the Canadian eTA, including those from France. It allows French citizens to enter Canada visa-free via a streamlined online application process. The Canadian eTA has many advantages. First, French citizens can stay in Canada for a maximum of 6 months at a time with their Canadian eTA. The Canadian eTA for French citizens is valid for 5 years or until the traveler's passport expires (whichever comes first). The Canada Travel Permit is a multiple-entry visa waiver and allows French travelers to enter and exit Canada as many times as they wish during its validity period. French travelers can obtain the eTA for Canada by filling out a simple online application form. The system is easy to use and filling out the form usually takes no more than 15 minutes.
