DALLAS, TEXAS, UNITED STATES, May 26, 2023

/EINPresswire.com/ -- Resurgence Wellness, a regenerative medical center in Arlington, Texas, has announced their revolutionary anti-aging breakthroughs with tech pioneer Bryan Johnson. Johnson, who spends $2 million a year on anti-aging efforts, has been working with a team of 30 doctors to reverse the aging process in every organ. He has recently traveled to Resurgence Wellness to receive a transfusion with the blood plasma of his 17-year-old son and donated his blood products to his 70-year-old father, completing 'the world's first multi-generational plasma exchange'.

The Johnson family visited Resurgence Wellness in April, where they received regenerative medical treatments, including the spa's 'Young Plasma' therapy. This therapy involves taking plasma from an 18-19-year-old and administering it to someone with the same blood type and sex. According to the center's website, Young-Plasma has been proven to repair skeletal, vascular, muscular, major organ, and cognitive deterioration associated with aging. Resurgence Wellness has been instrumental in aiding Johnson's relentless dedication to progress with an array of mind-boggling breakthroughs that will forever change how we perceive aging. Chris Chappell, Resurgence Wellness owner, says he is "excited to continue to offer these cutting-edge treatments" to the center's clients.

Resurgence Wellness invites individuals to embark on a transformative journey, where aging becomes a thing of the past.
