Free Tech for Research Sites to be Showcased in Upcoming Webinar

VersaTrial, Veeva, Slope and Inato Team Up to Present No-Cost Solutions Built for Sites

WILTON, CONNECTICUT, UNITED STATES, May 31, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- In light of the budgetary constraints that many research sites face, VersaTrial is collaborating with other clinical trial technology companies - Veeva Systems, Slope, and Inato - to raise awareness of free technology solutions specifically designed for clinical research sites in an upcoming webinar.

> " This webinar serves as a platform to introduce tools that are designed from a site-first perspective, immediately deployable, and free of cost."
> Naor Chazan, Chief Marketing Officer at VersaTrial

Attendees will gain insights into the following free tools:

• VersaTrial: Simplifies access to all study tech and contacts, and automates business development activities (https://www.versatrial.io)
• Veeva SiteVault: Streamlines regulatory, monitoring, and information exchange with sponsors (https://sites.veeva.com)
• Slope: Helps organize, manage, and track all clinical inventory (https://www.slopeclinical.com)
• Inato: Enables easy trial discovery, application, and support getting selected for suitable trials (https://inato.com)

These tools are purpose-built to tackle common site challenges and reduce administrative burden. The goal is to enable and empower sites to improve their productivity and efficiency at no cost.

This short, 45-minute webinar session will equip attendees with knowledge to start utilizing these free tools immediately.

"We are dedicated to providing solutions that address the everyday challenges of clinical research sites," says Naor Chazan, Chief Marketing Officer at VersaTrial."This webinar serves as a platform to introduce tools that are designed from a site-first perspective, immediately deployable, and free of cost."
