NEWPORT BEACH, CA 92660, CALIFORNIA, UNITED STATES, May 31, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Ergo21, a California-based cushion company has marked its significance presence in the industry by designing and launching a wide range of lumbar support pillows, seat cushions, travel cushions, sports cushions, and wheelchair cushions of varying sizes that are meant for bringing changes in lives of people suffering from posture-related health problems.

The brand has set a hallmark in the cushion industry with its latest launch of wheelchair and mobility scooter cushions that are developed using highly-resilient foam and infused with LiquiCell technology for offering superior comfort and pressure relief to customers. Besides that, the brand has always remained popular because of its extensive and exclusive range of lumbar support cushions.

The founder of Ergo21 is Steve Gambhir who used to suffer from severe back discomfort during his six-hours of commute on the Los Angeles freeways everyday while he was in the sales position. To get relief from the back discomfort, Gambhir tried using various cushions but did not get the desired satisfaction. After conducting several months of research, he discovered the unique technology, that is, LiquiCell (liquid-filled membrane), which helps in the improvement of blood flow by 100%. Gambhir licensed this miracle technology and created Ergo21 with a focus on designing premium-quality cushions for back support that can be used on sofas, beds, cars, wheelchairs, yoga, meditation, and many more.

Lower back pain is found to be a rising health issue which is faced by working professionals who are bound to sit for long hours in the same position without any lumbar support. Poor posture while driving can also create stress in the lower back, thus leading to back pain. As per reports, back pain is a common health problem that affects people of almost all ages, especially the adolescents and the elderly. This calls for the need of a good-quality cushion that can ensure that the person gets the desired support on their neck, spine, lower back, and hips while sitting for a prolonged period of time. The Ergo21 lumbar support pillows are thoughtfully designed to bridge the gap between the spine and the chair, thereby providing the desired lumbar support to users and catering to their posture-related health needs.

Ergo21 lumbar cushions are available in three different sizes which include Lumbar Large (18" x 24" x 1.5"), Lumbar Small (18"x 18" x 1.5"), and Lumbar Roll (16" x 10" x 2"). Prized for their versatile use, these lumbar support cushions are ideal for use in car seats, recliners, sofas, and office chairs. The high-resilience foam used to build the cushions offers a natural support to the user's spine while the liquid-filled membranes work to eliminate hot spots when the user leans against the lumbar support.

Designed to offer deep rest and relaxation for the spine, the lumbar support pillows are recommended as an aid for lower back pain, spinal stenosis, lumbar degenerative disc, lumbar stenosis, whiplash, cervical stenosis, degenerative spine conditions, and spinal arthritis or osteoarthritis. The lumbar support pillows for office chairs are found to be highly effective in reducing the risk of developing pressure sores and numbness occurring due to prolonged sitting, all thanks to the LiquiCell technology!

The LiquiCell technology uses a combination of low-viscosity fluids, which are strategically placed on pressure points. The flow of the liquid controls the soft tissue compression and reduces the shear stress and skin friction. This reduces the perpendicular pressure and offers support to your sit bones. The Ergo21 Everlasting Comfort Seat Cushion features four hand-stitched water membranes, which makes sitting comfortable for hours as it lets your body glide by reducing friction.

Every LiquiCell pad is lightweight, pliable, and contains urethane membranes sealed in low-viscosity liquid. These membranes distribute the pressure and make it easy to sit for a prolonged period of time. A local US foundry provided Ergo21 with a specific density open cell foam that is meant to absorb road vibrations without being uncomfortable for the sitting muscles. Then, a specially designed LiquiCell Membrane is applied on top to enhance blood flow while safeguarding delicate skin tissues from deterioration. The infusion of this technology in Ergo21's cushions helps users to get rid of hip pain, sciatica, compressed discs, tail burn, groin pain, numbness, fatigue, and many more.

Ergo21 has always worked with the aim of providing smart solutions to users to counteract their posture-related health issues. With an exhaustive range of lumbar support cushions, including wheelchair cushions, original cushions, sports cushions, coccyx cushions, lumbar cushions, travel cushions, mesh chair set cushions and more, the company has 1000+ positive reviews across multiple platforms including 500+ five-star reviews on Amazon.
