BLOOMINGTON, MINNESOTA, UNITED STATES, May 31, 2023

/EINPresswire.com/ -- Transwestern's Managing Director of Retail Services, Chris Simmons joined Lisa Christianson on her latest podcast, People and Places and How We Use Spaces.

With his larger than life personality, it is to no surprise the success Simmons has had in his 25+ year experience including over 2,000 lease, sale, and built-to-suit transactions representing almost eleven million square feet of retail space.

Chris discusses everything from how working in the world of commercial real estate seemed more exciting than his original career path in aviation, who helped him 'learn the game' in the business, and that it doesn't matter what school you went to or what degree you have, but honesty, mentorship, and outworking everyone else are the main contributors to success.
