

FIELD FANS SUPPORTING UNIVERSITY CHILDREN'S HOSPITALS THROUGH GENEROUS FUNDRAISING CAMPAIGN

COLUMBUS, OHIO, UNITED STATES, June 1, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- As a Service Disabled Veteran Owned Small Business (SDVOSB), a long-time supporter of first responders, and an avid sports fan, Stuart Pollak is bringing this same passion to several children's hospitals throughout the nation.

Pollak is the founder and president of Field Fans (www.fieldfans.com), a company that manufactures licensed and fun sports memorabilia that consumers use every day.

"Our major product is custom-designed pillowcases decorated with school logos," said Pollak. "These have become extremely popular in recent years. Students, parents, alumni, and fans are our biggest customers.

"I like to think that by placing their heads on the logo of their favorite school, they are getting a better night's sleep."

But Pollak, through the sale of his custom-designed pillowcases, hopes to provide more benefits to ailing children who need the finest medical care.

With that in mind, Field Fans will be donating 20 percent of pillowcase sales featuring the University of Florida, Louisiana State University, and the University of Iowa logos to children's hospitals affiliated with these schools.

These hospitals include Shand's Children's Hospital in Gainesville, FL; Our Lady of the Lake Children's Hospital in Baton Rouge, LA; and the University of Iowa Stead Family Children's Hospital in Iowa City, IA.

This fundraising promotion started recently and will continue for the foreseeable future, according to Pollak.

"We're honored to participate in this fundraising effort," said Pollak. "At Field Fans, our goal is to support our military and our country. We also recognize that fans are extremely enthusiastic about their favorite teams.

"And now, through our new initiative, we are supporting these fine medical institutions that are caring for our children."

Pollak is excited about the future of Field Fans and its participation in a wide range of fundraising activities.

"Our roster of teams and products are continually growing," he said. "We will continue to use this platform to support non-profits, charities, and other organizations. Our customers are excited about being part of this corporate mission and we certainly appreciate their support."
