In a commitment to directly support BIPOC individuals and the wider community, a significant portion of the ticket revenue and sponsorship contributions will be directly donated to The Psychedelic Access Fund (PAF)<sup>1</sup>. PAF is a 501(c)3 organization determined to remove the financial barriers that prevent a person from receiving psychedelic therapy, with a particular focus on serving the marginalized community.

Furthermore, a portion of the ticket sales and sponsorship contributions will be redistributed to the BIPOC conference organizers and speakers, promoting a fair and equitable model that recognizes the value and contribution of all involved<sup>2</sup>. Sponsorship opportunities are still available for any organization that wishes to apply through the BIPOCpsychedelic.com website.

The First Annual BIPOC Psychedelic Conference, happening the weekend before the national Juneteenth celebration, is a significant step towards creating a more equitable and inclusive field of psychedelic therapy. By supporting this event and shining a light upon the speakers, organizers, and community partner organizations, you're not only contributing to a groundbreaking conference but also helping to provide direct support to BIPOC practitioners, researchers, facilitators, space holders, and those seeking intergenerational knowledge from the global majority.
