Newly renovated chiropractic facility in New Hyde Park, N.Y., was purchased from a retiring physician

STATEN ISLAND, NY, UNITED STATES, June 2, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Dr. Frank J. Mandarino, an award-winning Staten Island chiropractor with a practice that spans the New York Metro area and nearby New Jersey, recently posted an online video tour of his newly renovated Mandarino Chiropractic P.C. office in New Hyde Park, N.Y.

The video, available on Mandarino Chiropractic's Facebook page, shows

Dr. Mandarino as he walks through the attractive, state-of-the-art facility, which was purchased from a retiring physician.

Dr. Mandarino explained that he and Dr. Joseph Carbone, a Mandarino Chiropractic partner, "renovated the office, and put a modern touch to it – and a modern flare."

After strolling through the attractive reception area, comfortable waiting room and doctor's office in the Long Island facility, Dr. Mandarino points to a variety of treatment rooms, each containing tried and proven traditional and leading-edge therapies, such as compression and traction tables; a room where he was greeted by a top acupuncturist in a first-rate acupuncture environment; additional chiropractic areas, and a room featuring PiezoWave therapy.

"It's acoustic sound waves," Dr. Mandarino explained as he gestured toward the high-tech Richard Wolf Piezo shockwave system, which is designed to provide effective treatment for chronic pain.

The newly renovated waiting room and reception area of Mandarino Chiropractic's Long Island location reflect the up-to-date concept of the high-tech, modern office.

Since opening his first office in 1991, Dr. Mandarino has grown his practice to include six state-of-the-art facilities, represented in New Jersey as New Jersey Sports Chiropractic, and in metropolitan New York, Highland, N.Y., and Long Island as Mandarino Chiropractic.
