An exciting hallmark of STARS Academy School's curriculum is the seamless integration of various musicals that span different historical periods. By intertwining arts and history, students embark on captivating educational journeys. For example, they explore American History through the lens of the widely acclaimed musical Hamilton, delving into the intricacies of the events and themes portrayed in the show. This immersive experience not only ignites their passion for history but also enhances their critical thinking and analytical skills. In their study of Western Civilization, students engage with the timeless masterpiece Les Misérables, gaining a profound understanding of the historical context and human struggles depicted in the musical. Furthermore, the celebrated musical Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat serves as a gateway to studying World Civilization, enabling students to delve into diverse cultures and explore different historical periods with curiosity and enthusiasm.

Reflecting on her family's experience at STARS Academy, Jenna Rosher, a parent, shares her heartfelt appreciation, saying, "STARS Academy School provides an incredible project-based learning program that truly prioritizes the holistic development of each child.
