The hunt is always on, for finding rare bottles of Bourbon. Two limited releases are now available blending 5 year old High Rye Bourbon and 5-year-old Sweet Mash Straight Bourbon. The blend is first aged in new charred American oak, then rested in used French oak wine barrels, before being finished in a third "special" cask for an additional 3 months.

After tasting through many blends, Adam, the owner and Sommelier of Sip & Say, chose Bourbon finished in Hungarian Tokaji barrels, a well known dessert wine and a Bourbon in Moscatel barrels, which is one of the grapes that goes into making Sherry. It is Adam's wine background that helped him taste the plethora of flavors in each of the two finished blends. "It is the range of flavors in each of these bottlings, balanced by some nice burn, that really got me excited and knowing that we would be the only store in the country with these Bourbons".

The Tokaji blend is a uniquely balanced Bourbon with aromas of sweet vanilla, almond and coconut. On the palate, the 112 proof is masked by flavors of almond, crème brûlée, blackberries, nougat and marzipan. This complex and distinctive Bourbon has a smooth finish with toffee, cake, peppery spices and dark roasted grains.

The Moscatel blend offers creamy tropical fruits, baked peach, golden plum, white grape and cardamom. At 113 proof, the flavor is well balanced against the burn, making this a delightfully flavored Bourbon that drinks great neat or with a drop of water or an ice cube.

In addition to these special bottles, Sip & Say offers free bottle engraving on almost every available bottle. Bottles are often kept and cherished for years to come, remembering the day they were received. Customers share, "they've dedicated shelves to displaying gifted, engraved bottles, each one a unique work of art." A bottle is a great gift, but, "an engraved bottle lasts a lifetime," said Adam.
