Nutrigenomix meets robust standards to become an American Nutrition Association Health PartnerSM

TORONTO, ON, CANADA, June 12, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Nutrigenomix is proud to announce their partnership with the American Nutrition Association[®] (ANA) as an American Nutrition Association Health PartnerSM.

Nutrigenomix has been a pioneer in genetic testing for personalized nutrition worldwide for the past decade . With its commitment to stringent scientific standards and practitioner support, Nutrigenomix is widely regarded as the gold standard in genetic testing for personalized nutrition by prominent researchers, scientists, educators and practitioners.

“We are thrilled to support the ANA as an American Nutrition Association Health Partner and empower thousands of nutrition professionals with evidence-based genetic information for personalized nutrition”, said Dr. Ahmed El-Sohehy, Founder and Chief Science Officer at Nutrigenomix. “Our 70-gene test coupled with the validated dietary intake assessment tool provide nutrition professionals and their clients with specific, actionable and individualized DNA-based recommendations to improve health and performance.”

The American Nutrition Association and Nutrigenomix share the common goal of a healthy society powered by nutrition. As the gold-standard for the unbiased science and practice of Personalized Nutrition, the American Nutrition Association is the professional home to thousands of nutrition professionals including physicians, Certified Nutrition Specialists[®], and many other licensed healthcare and nutrition professionals.

The ANA’s rigorous standards make it the nation’s most trusted authority on nutrition. “As an American Nutrition Association Health Partner, Nutrigenomix reinforces their leadership in the industry as an organization that aligns with the ANA vision of a healthy society, powered by nutrition” said Michael Stroka, CEO of the American Nutrition Association.

“The work we do at the ANA to address chronic disease through the unbiased science and practice of Personalized Nutrition is possible because of the support and dedication of stakeholders such as Nutrigenomix.” said Stroka.

With offices in Canada, the United States, UK, Brazil and Australia, Nutrigenomix continues to expand to meet the growing needs of healthcare providers and consumers for a high-quality genetic testing service for personalized nutrition.
