“Integration with Microsoft Teams allows users to take advantage of licenses they already own and the service they use every day,” said Carolyn Bradfield, CEO of Convey Services, parent company of Cloud Conventions. “Teams integration was one our highest priorities since they are the market leader for corporate meetings with millions of users worldwide. Adding Teams to the Venue platform creates a universal solution to build online communities, engage customers and employees, offer training or market to prospects.”

Individuals register to attend the session powered by Microsoft Teams, add it to their calendar and receive automated email reminders. Venue ensures that only logged in attendees or site members can access a Teams session from the Venue platform and cannot share credentials with others. Venue offers the option of selecting Teams, Zoom or BlueJeans by Verizon to provide integrated video meeting, webinar and broadcast solutions for live sessions, webinars, streaming programs, or workshops.

Venue

Venue, a new SaaS solution from Cloud Conventions, is a feature-rich, budget friendly, self-serve virtual platform to host and manage multi-day events and conferences.

“Session management is one of Venue’s most important features,” added Bradfield. “Automating registration ensures that attendees schedule sessions on their calendars and are reminded to attend with secure and easy access in Venue. Using existing Teams licenses not only helps the moderator run sessions more efficiently, but it also reduces overall platform cost.”

Benefits of Cloud Conventions Venue
