Boost Oxygen, is making a donation to local Connecticut American Red Cross centers to assist with relief efforts during the ongoing wildfire smoke.

MILFORD, CT, USA, June 9, 2023

/EINPresswire.com/ -- Boost Oxygen, the worldwide leader in supplemental oxygen canisters and based in Milford, Connecticut, is making a donation to local Connecticut American Red Cross centers to assist with relief efforts during the ongoing wildfire smoke and hazardous air quality.

Many people with breathing issues throughout the northeast are impacted by the poor air quality due to the Canadian wildfires. Because of the air quality, Boost Oxygen has seen an increase in demand for supplemental oxygen to provide respiratory support. Boost Oxygen also recently reached a licensing agreement with the American Red Cross on a new Rapid Response Oxygen canister, with a portion of each canister sold donated to American Red Cross relief efforts.

We're proud to continue to support the American Red Cross nationally as well as throughout Connecticut locations as they help relief efforts from the wildfires,”

Rob Neuner

Along with hospitals, medical centers and EMTs, the American Red Cross and their staff are at the frontlines helping local communities with relief efforts.
