Westminster Publishing House launches a football biography that motivates the masses

MONROE, LOUISIANA, USA, June 9, 2023

/EINPresswire.com/ -- Authors Matt Branch and Liana Branch share their powerful story of how an LSU player got shot by a dog and lived to tell the story in "Nobody's Gonna Die Today" ($17.99, paperback, 979-8-218-20172-2, $25.99, hardcover, 979-8-218-20173-9).

Former LSU football player and survivor of a tragic hunting accident, Matt Branch, shares his story of survival and hope in his new book "Nobody's Gonna Die Today". In December 2018, Branch's hunting trip went awry when his gun accidentally went off and severed his femoral artery, leaving him close to death. Against all odds, Branch survived but with the loss of his entire left leg. Through determination and motivation for his family, Branch fought to regain his mobility and independence, and now he shares his journey of faith and purpose with others.

In his book, Branch shares the excruciating details of his accident and recovery, providing a message of perseverance and hope. The book's title, "Nobody's Gonna Die Today," is a poignant reference to something his football coach used to say to keep players pushing through tough workouts. For Branch, it signifies cheating death and making the most of his second chance at life.

In this book you will see how life, no matter its condition or circumstance, is always worth fighting for.”
