

Flooring Market Trends, Segmentation and Opportunities Forecast till 2030

Rising demand for insulated flooring for comfort and sound insulation properties is driving revenue growth of the market.

NEW YORK, NY, UNITED STATES, June 15, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The global Flooring Market size is expected to reach USD 576.47 Billion in 2030 and register a revenue CAGR of 5.5% over the forecast period, according to latest report by Reports and Data. Increasing investments in construction and remodelling industries along with recent lifestyle changes induced due to effect of the pandemic have increased demand for home interior designs which in turn is driving the market revenue growth.

Reports And Data

Interior designing intends to create aesthetically pleasing spaces within a particular residential or non-residential area. An increasing trend of investments in interior designing was particularly observed during the pandemic period with an increasing expenditure being allocated for bringing improvement in personal space, improving aesthetics, and showcasing personal wealth. This factor is expected to drive the market revenue growth. Advancements in technology have enabled improvement of flooring products with properties such as – anti-skidding, noise insulation, increased durability, good acoustics, and resistance to dust and moisture. Such properties or features will create an increased demand for flooring products that will contribute to revenue growth of the market.

However, delays in construction projects is one of the factors that could hamper market's revenue growth during the forecast period. Along with cost re-runs and time lapses, raw materials required for construction and designing, with cost volatility affect procurement. This challenges timely delivery of the product, increasing prices, which is expected to restrain market revenue growth.
