Viperatech, a front-runner in cutting-edge technology solutions, is delighted to announce the availability of the newest lineup of NVIDIA's state-of-the-art hardware for AI and deep learning machines. The new range, which includes NVIDIA's trailblazing DGX, H100 8x GPU, and H100 4x GPU models, is set to make waves in the AI and deep learning ecosystem, enhancing capabilities for businesses and researchers around the globe.

Designed for an era of AI and high-performance computing, NVIDIA's latest additions mark a seismic shift in processing prowess. The NVIDIA DGX H100, equipped with up to 4 PetaFLOPS of AI performance, revolutionizes the execution of demanding AI and deep learning tasks. Accompanying this powerhouse, Viperatech is also introducing the H100 8x GPU and H100 4x GPU models to cater to varied needs for intense computational power.

Furthermore, Viperatech is delighted to confirm that individual NVIDIA H100 and A100 GPUs are now stocked in large quantities, ensuring a steady supply of these coveted devices to meet the surging demand.

"We're excited to partner with NVIDIA in bringing their groundbreaking H100 series to our customers," said Ahmad Tamim, Viperatech's CEO. "These additions are more than just products;
