Why courses on ChatGPT?

From the time of its introduction in late 2022-early '23, ChatGPT has been a sensation, and seems to be on everyone's lips. The reason for its meteoric appearance is the sheer power of computing it facilitates, which has the potential to turn many fields, ranging from human resources to finance and law to art, upside down.

Given the extent to which it can pervade innumerable fields of human endeavor with its seemingly unlimited power of computing, the consternation it has caused is understandable. It is to clear the anxiety and unease it has caused that SimplivLearning has introduced this bunch of courses on this topic.

Getting ChatGPT right

"Being a platform at the forefront of innovative, timely and valuable learning, SimplivLearning wants to assure learners that this new technology is not something to fear, but one to work with. Like most such technological tools, ChatGPT can work wonders when used rightly, but can cause chaos if not done right. The essence of learning should be to guide people on how to get it right. This is why we have designed these courses.

Shahanshah Manzoor, Managing Director of SimplivLearning. We want to make sure that professionals and students become experts in this new ChatGPT training program and also use technology in the correct context. Our courses help them complement their work with this tool",
