MedtecLIVE with T4M represents the complete value chain of medical technology, with this year's event hosting 397 exhibitors, including esteemed businesses from the USA, Japan, and China. This significant event encourages personal exchanges within the industry, discussing the latest processes and products related to the manufacturing of medical technology.

"As the industry grapples with the pandemic's after-effects, our focus on long-term relationships with our top-notch suppliers has become even more critical," said Anthony Arrigo, CEO and co-founder of Arrigo Medical Devices.
