A wide-angle shot of a large, modern automated warehouse. The space is filled with tall, blue metal shelving units that stretch into the distance. These units are densely packed with cardboard boxes, many of which are labeled with the number '11'. In the foreground, a blue and black autonomous mobile robot (AMR) is positioned on a highly reflective, polished floor. The robot is carrying a large cardboard box on its platform. Several other similar robots are visible further down the aisle, moving in the same direction. The ceiling is high and features a complex network of steel trusses and lighting fixtures. The overall atmosphere is one of a highly organized and automated industrial environment.
