

Richard Tyler signs on to Produce DNA Films documentary, Hero

Documentary features real-life heroes who overcame obstacles to emerge as transformed individuals; told through a series of authentic stories that inspire hope

ORLANDO , FL, USA, June 21, 2023

/EINPresswire.com/ -- CEO of Richard Tyler International, Best-Selling Author, and Producer Richard Tyler (Dickie V on Disney+, It's Happening Right Here) has signed on as a Producer on the new documentary film, Hero, from Emmy® Award-winning film production studio DNA Films and Abundance Studios™. Directed by 22-time Emmy® Award winner Nick Nanton (Dickie V on Disney+, The Rebound (Netflix), Operation Toussaint, Rudy Ruettiger: The Walk On on Amazon) and produced by author, writer, director, actor and former Navy Seal, Remi Adeleke (Plane, Special Forces Fox), aims to motivate audiences with stories of perseverance, hope, and courage in the face of adversity. The film is currently in post-production.

Hero explores one of the most fascinating aspects of a hero's journey, which is its universality. This narrative archetype of the 'hero's journey' was first coined by mythology expert Joseph Campbell and found in stories ranging from The Odyssey to Harry Potter. That narrative starts with a hero going on an adventure, learning a lesson, achieving a victory, and then returning home as a transformed person. This reiterates that there is something deeply resonant about the story of a hero's transformation that speaks to people across space and time.

The documentary features the journeys of Plane actor and Special Forces Fox host Remi Adeleke who will also serve as a Producer, deaf singer/songwriter and America's Got Talent Golden Buzzer winner Mandy Harvey, UFC Bantamweight champion Dominick Cruz and Laura Penhaul, who led the first all-female crew to row the Pacific Ocean.

"Since getting out of the military, storytelling, whether through books, tv or film has become my greatest passion. And, as a storyteller, I've utilized the hero's journey many times so it's been 'cool' to be able to examine that process through the lens of actual people," said Adeleke.

While many view heroes as extraordinary individuals with superhuman abilities, Campbell believed we are all the heroes of our own stories. The key is simply tapping into your innate potential. Through interviews with these featured heroes, the film will provide a blueprint for crafting your hero's journey of personal transformation and ultimately creating the life you imagine.

To become the hero of your own story, you must script it, you must narrate it, and you must produce it. What that means on a practical level will be explored by experts in the fields of personal development, motivation, Future Self science, and more.

"What I love about this topic is that none of the four featured people in the film would call themselves heroes, which is the whole point," said Nanton. "I am making this film for everyone from kids to adults at any stage of their lives from all corners of the globe, to help them see how they can become the heroes of their own journeys and live fulfilled lives of success and significance."

The documentary reunites Nanton, and award-winning producer, Richard Tyler, who worked together on The Soul of Success and Maximum Achievement, which told the inspiring life stories of Jack Canfield and Brian Tracy, respectively.

Nanton is a 22-time Emmy Award-winning director, and producer, author, and branding agency executive who has won multiple awards for his work since 2005 and been nominated for 36. Having directed over 60 documentary films, from the slums of Port-au-Prince Haiti with special forces raiding a sex trafficking ring and freeing young girls to the Virgin Galactic SpacePort in Mojave with Sir Richard Branson, Nanton has become known for telling stories that connect. The Emmy wins are just the latest in a long line of accolades for Nanton, who has produced film and television projects including the recently released Disney+ documentary Dickie V about Dick Vitale, created a series In Case You Didn't Know with Nick Nanton for Prime Video, co-founded DNA Films, and wrote several successful books including Story Selling.

"Nick Nanton is America's Biographer. He is the voice of a new generation," said Larry King.

Tyler is a Best-Selling Author and sales and management expert who has spent over three decades creating "Master Communicators" with his training and consulting business. Teaching success philosophies and time-tested techniques in Sales, Leadership, Management, Customer Service and Quality Improvement, his company has received countless accolades in its industry, including Top Sales Training and Management Consulting Firm in the United States, the Best For Corporate Growth Strategy, USA, the Award for Excellence in Sales Training - USA, Management Consultancy of the Year and the Best of Business Award Management Consultancy.
