The Hunger Project's work is based on the belief that the people who are closest to the problem are also the best equipped to solve it. That's why GJK's investment is so important.”

been investing in The Hunger Project since 2015. They've continued to show long term, committed partnership with The Hunger Project's work. They first invested in the community of Bougue to bring it to Self-Reliance and now they're committing to do the same for the community of Akode, Ghana.

GJK Facility Services is a proud supporter of The Hunger Project, an international non-profit organization committed to ending hunger and poverty. GJK has been investing in The Hunger Project since 2015, and they've continued to show their long-term commitment to the organization's work.

GJK first invested in the community of Bougue to bring it to Self-Reliance, and they're now committing to doing the same for the community of Akode, Ghana. The Hunger Project's work is based on the belief that the people who are closest to the problem are also the best equipped to solve it. That's why GJK's investment is so important – it helps to empower the people who are directly affected by hunger and poverty.

GJK Facility Services is committed to making a difference in the fight against hunger and poverty. Their continued investment in The Hunger Project is an important part of that commitment. With GJK's support, The Hunger Project is one step closer to achieving its goal of a world without hunger and poverty.
