

Translate.One and Paligo Announce Partnership

Translate.One and Paligo bring innovative language solutions to technical documentation demands for enterprises worldwide.

STOCKHOLM, SWEDEN, June 27, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Paligo, a leading provider of software enabling customers to manage componentized technical documentation and knowledge assets, announces a strategic partnership with leading language solutions provider

Translate.One. Through this partnership, mutual customers in key industries of both Translate.One and Paligo will be provided expert guidance on the best pathway towards accomplishing their multilingual and multichannel technical documentation goals.

Paligo provides a cloud-based Component Content Management System ("CCMS") that allows customers to author, manage, translate and publish technical documentation and knowledge assets such as policies, procedures, and customer support information, with a focus on the software, manufacturing, finance and insurance, and healthcare verticals.

Founded in 2015, Paligo has become the fastest growing modern SaaS (software as a service) CCMS in the world, enabling customers previously locked into traditional on-premise documentation software to reap the collaboration and efficiency benefits of a cloud-native application.

Translate.One and Paligo are natural partners offering a professional and efficient translation workflow for technical content with Translate.One's Translation Memory and Project Management solutions and Paligo's modern authoring UI.

Anders Svensson, Co-Founder and CEO of Paligo, says: "Paligo and Translate.One are committed to excellence and the focus on delivery for our mutual clients. The customer's needs come first and foremost in all of our decisions. I'm confident that this partnership will grow to become a
