A Post-Covid World Has Brought Significant Change to the Aviation Training Environment

The COVID-19 pandemic has dramatically impacted the way people work and learn, and as a result, the willingness to engage with online training has increased significantly.

During the pandemic, lockdowns and social distancing measures forced many organizations to adapt quickly to remote work and online training. This rapid shift accelerated the adoption of online learning technologies and created a sense of familiarity with online training.

Sofema Online (www.sofemaonline.com) has become the provider of accessible and flexible regulatory-compliant and vocational courses by allowing Sofema Online customers to learn at their own pace and from anywhere with an internet connection. Online training is also often more cost-effective than traditional in-person training, which makes it more appealing to both organizations and individuals
