

ASP Global Announces Acquisition of MediCore Medical Supply; Adds ReadyLance™ Blood Collection Products to Offering

Addition of MediCore's safety lancets and heel sticks further strengthens ASP Global's sourcing capabilities for healthcare systems

AUSTELL, GA, USA, June 29, 2023

/EINPresswire.com/ -- ASP Global, a leading strategic sourcing partner for large healthcare providers and distributors, today announced it has acquired Nashville-based MediCore Medical Supply (MediCore).

The acquisition of MediCore marks a significant milestone in the growth and expansion of ASP Global. MediCore, a leading manufacturer and distributor of blood collection products, will expand ASP Global's lab and diagnostic portfolios with their assortment of devices.

MediCore's proprietary brand of blood collection products marketed under the ReadyLance™ brand further enhances the value we deliver to our hospital and distribution customers”

Doug Shaver, President & CEO, ASP Global

Added to the company's growing portfolio of 3400+ products is the ReadyLance™ line of safety lancets and heel devices. Both products are offered in multiple sizes for multiple applications across healthcare systems including Pediatrics and Endocrinology.

“We are excited to welcome MediCore Medical Supply to the ASP Global Family. MediCore's proprietary brand of blood collection products marketed under the ReadyLance™ brand further enhances the value we deliver to our hospital and distribution customers,” said Doug Shaver, President and CEO of ASP Global.

As part of the acquisition, MediCore Medical Supply Founder and former Chief Executive Officer, Josh Pittman, will be joining ASP Global as VP of Business Development.
