“

Locally, we have a representative from the bank team who comes in and speaks to our participants about opening a banking account.”

Natalie Longmeier, the executive director at Marion Matters

Marion Matters’ mission is to enrich the skills of those in poverty by providing them with the tools to unlock their potential and future success. They focus on the education, employment and financial positions of people in need to help build their social capital. The Union Bank Co.’s longtime partnership with Marion Matters stems from more than just fiscal donations, they also provide a wealth of financial knowledge that they share with the program participants.

“We are super thankful for our relationship with The Union Bank Company,” said Natalie Longmeier, the executive director at Marion Matters. “Locally, we have a representative from the bank team who comes in and speaks to our participants about opening a banking account. This has been such a huge asset to what we do and helps folks further their financial position,” she continued.

During the month of June, The Union Bank Co. contributed $2000 to Marion Matters in support of their community enrichment programs. This is a donation that will keep on giving, as Marion Matters helps to create self-sufficient, active members of the community. The Union Bank Co. hopes to continue to provide knowledge and resources to the members of the Marion Matters programs as well as continue their financial support of them for years to come.

Habitat for Humanity of Wood County unites people in service to build a better future for the communities they support. The Union Bank Co. employees give back to various Habitat locations each month, and their charity ranges from in-person volunteer work to contributing to each cause's fundraising pages. This month, the bank donated $500 to Woodford County. Habitat for Humanity is a nonprofit to which the bank team consistently returns because of their unrelenting determination to make the world a better place to live for everyone.

This month The Union Bank Co. also donated $1000 to Lima's Samaritan House. Lima's Samaritan House focuses on serving homeless women and their children by providing a shelter program that helps the women become self-sufficient. From meals, a safe place to stay, laundry, and supportive programs that help the women of Lima to get whatever help and guidance they may need. 50% of necessary funding for the shelter comes strictly from donations and it brings The Union Bank Co. great joy to know that their donation will play a small role in impacting the work that Lima's Samaritan House does every day.
