In preparation for the launch, we are calling on the passion and creativity of independent content creators, filmmakers, and media specialists. This is a golden opportunity for talented individuals to showcase their work on a larger platform and connect with a wider audience.

"We are immensely excited to be expanding with the NC1 Network," said the CEO Nick Caster of NC1 Agency. "Our mission has always been to discover, nurture and spotlight unique talent and content. These new channels, particularly the Michigan Channel, will allow us to delve deeper into unexplored local stories, opening up fresh avenues for the diverse voices of Michigan to be heard."

We encourage content that reflects the distinctiveness of Michigan – its people, culture, nature, industry, arts, and beyond. Content can range from short films, documentaries, TV shows, animations to digital series, music videos, and innovative multimedia projects.

This exciting venture is not just about broadcasting. It is about community building. It's an opportunity to highlight the local talent and elevate the Michigan creative scene to a national level.
