Unoccupied homes face threats from weather damage, break-ins, leaks, frozen pipes, ice dams, mold, pest infestations and electrical problems for example. Unfortunately, if the home is unoccupied, the issue isn't typically recognized until it's too late. Professional preemptive inspections can help deter problems in the first place and help reveal and address minor issues before they turn into significant damage.

“

We strive to be our client's eyes and ears while they're away. If we see something that needs attention, we take care of it so they don't have to spend any of their time away from home worrying”
