High-End Cleaning Processes

Anthony Peter Carpet and Upholstery consist of a team of trained professionals with a strong work ethic, customer-orientated values, and the skill set required to handle complex upholstery rug, drapery, and carpet cleaning in Brooklyn.

The high-end cleaning process utilized by Anthony Peter Carpet and Upholstery involves several steps to ensure that customers receive a professional, quality job that exceeds their expectations. This includes:

Anthony Peter Carpet and Upholstery will take photos of each room requiring expert cleaning services. These images serve as a reference to identify areas with heavy staining or where there are unique carpets, rugs, and upholstery to be handled with extra care.

Comprehensive Cleaning Inspection

The company's team will meticulously inspect your carpet, rug, drapery, or upholstery after the photography. This inspection allows the professional cleaners to note stained or damaged areas, paying special attention to those sections during the cleaning process.

Thorough Carpet Vacuuming

If a customer has chosen a rug or carpet to be cleaned, once the inspection is complete, Anthony Peter Carpet and Upholstery will thoroughly vacuum the area to remove all particulate matter.

This initial cleaning eliminates loose dirt and debris from the carpet or rug fibers, ensuring a deeper and more effective subsequent cleaning.

Any stains identified during the assessment are then pre-treated. The team applies specialized cleaning solutions that penetrate the carpet fibers, working to break down the stains before moving on to the next step. This treatment is equally effective for oriental rug cleaning, preserving the rug's delicate fibers while ensuring cleanliness.

The pre-conditioning phase follows, during which a unique cleaning solution is applied to loosen and suspend the embedded soil. This process prepares the dirt for extraction and is a crucial part of maintaining the professional look of customers' items.

After pre-conditioning, Anthony Peter Carpet and Upholstery (brooklyncarpetcleaning.org) commence with a professional cleaning process. This deep cleaning utilizes various methods to effectively remove dirt and pollutants from your items.

Once the deep clean process is complete, the team conducts another detailed inspection of the item. If any stubborn spots or stains remain, these areas are individually treated to remove the stains as much as possible.

Anthony Peter Carpet and Upholstery will retake photos of the cleaned area after it has completed its cleaning services. This side-by-side comparison shows the items' transformation and is the company's final touch in its commitment to providing customers with a superior cleaning experience at a reasonable price.
