MIAMI, FLORIDA, UNITED STATES, July 10, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Istituto Marangoni Miami is pleased to announce its participation in the 10th edition of CABANA trade show held at the Miami Convention Center from July 8th-10th. With top brands and retailers within the swimwear, resortwear, accessories, RTW, lingerie, jewelry, activewear, and footwear categories, CABANA bridges brands and retailers through a carefully curated environment.

Lounge at CABANA designed by IMM Interior Design student

For this 10th edition, the Interior Design students from Istituto Marangoni Miami were invited to present their designs for the general lounge space at CABANA, while staying true to the curated environment the trade show is known for. The winner, student Pavitra Thakkar, was selected by Janet Wong, co-founder of CABANA.

With a background in fashion styling and communication, Pavitra Thakkar brings a unique perspective to her work, often incorporating intricate patterns, rich colors, and details inspired by her Indian heritage. She believes that simplicity is the ultimate sophistication and aims to create beautiful and functional spaces that reflect her clients' personality and needs.

"Entering a convention center brimming with unique designs and products from multiple brands is always an inspiring experience. For me, Miami's prominent pink color inspired the creation of this lounge area that promotes interaction and relaxation, while providing a vibrant connection with the exhibitions," stated Pavitra.

Istituto Marangoni Miami's Dean of Interior Design, Dr. Thelma Lazo Flores, states: "This project was an immersive learning experience for the students. All the moving parts were real - the client, the size of space, the intended purpose, the working budget, the timeline, etc. The design parameters challenged their creativity and sensitivity as to how the potential users of the lounge would enjoy their time in it. The amazing outcome manifests that at Istituto Marangoni Miami, we empower the interior design students to embrace a methodical process and confidently deliver their own cohesive spatial syntax."
