This September, GALIDE will be showcasing its latest solutions at the Jamf User Nation Conference (JNUC) in Austin from September 19-21. As a platinum sponsor, the company plans on demonstrating the ways its new asset management platform can help Jamf's customers maximize the value of their Apple hardware.

The new platform is a game changer as it helps Mac admins more effectively time the refresh of their Apple devices in order to maximize value recovery”

George Weisgerber

"Jamf has more than 72,500 active customers, managing over 30 million Apple devices." said Abeer Motiwala, VP of GALIDE. "The vast majority of our clients use Jamf for Mobile Device Management (MDM)."

George Weisgerber, GALIDE Head of Partnerships and Procurement stated, "The new platform is a game changer as it helps Mac admins more effectively time the refresh of their Apple devices in order to maximize value recovery."

For over 15 years, Apple admins have gathered, whether in person or virtually, at the Jamf Nation User Conference (JNUC). JNUC is a great opportunity for Apple IT, users and InfoSec leaders to discover new and better ways to manage and secure Apple devices to simplify work and keep users productive. GALIDE is excited to now be a Developer Partner with Jamf, as together the two companies can help their customers more cost-effectively manage their Apple devices.
