"Our Finance and Accounting Outsourcing services are designed to improve the way businesses handle their financial tasks, saving them substantial costs and enabling them to focus on their core competencies," said Ajay Mehta, the CEO of IBN Technologies. The $43,000 median salary for bookkeepers in the United States has long been a burden for businesses, particularly startups and small enterprises, especially in cities where salaries are significantly higher. In cities like San Francisco, where salaries are 41 percent higher, and Boston, where the market variance increases by 34 percent, the cost of hiring and retaining a skilled bookkeeping team becomes even more exorbitant. By opting for IBN Technologies' services, SMEs can effectively lower their financial management expenses, potentially altering the trajectory of their bottom line.

Recognizing that not all accounting tasks require the expertise of a Certified Public Accountant (CPA), or a Chief Financial Officer (CFO), Mr.

Mehta points out IBN Technologies' ability to bridge this gap with a team of skilled and certified professionals, with adequate exposure to US GAAP, capable of handling various financial functions. This flexibility allows businesses to allocate their resources effectively and streamline their financial operations. Whether the question is about doing bookkeeping or having a CFO in-house v/s outsourced, the finance and accounting department of IBN Technologies, helps SMBs at all levels.
