LOS ANGELES, UNITED STATES, July 17, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- William Epps Jr., author of Living In A Dying Land, expresses gratitude to all participants of the Los Angeles Times Festival of Books (LATFOB) 2023 that made the two-day event held at the University of Southern California last April 22-23 a huge success.

He displayed his 28-page book that talks about the beginning of the old testament, the book of Genesis and highlights the history and deeds of Adam and Abraham and their impact on the human race.

William Epps Jr. is, to this day, still bowled over by the reception that his book received from the attendees. Furthermore, he expresses his gratitude to the event organizers for giving him a chance to promote his book to a more diverse range of audience.

As a response to the overwhelming support he received in the event, William Epps Jr. commits to writing more books that can help and inspire those who seek to gain strengthened spirituality through the teachings of the bible.
