

Immigrant's Life Inspires Readers in New Book

Follow the Roller-Coaster Ride of the Life of Cecilio Navarro Jr.

TORONTO, ONTARIO, CANADA, July 14, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- When the circumstances unexpectedly takes you out of your home country and brings you to places you have never been before - fighting against storms, challenges, and obstacles along the way, and witnessing history unfold like the Cold War and the fall of the Berlin Wall - Well, your life is surely "one for the books" - so you should write it all down in a book.

Cecilio N. Navarro Jr. did just that. His life was one that is mesmerizing, his experience is thrilling, and his struggles were awe-inspiring. All of these experiences, now written in his biography-memoir, "Providential Endowment: Working with the Army and Air Force Exchange Service".

Navarro knew he had big shoes to fill growing up in the Philippines: His father had managed to become a schoolteacher and post Exchange manager at Clark Air Force Base even though he only had a sixth-grade education.

After his father died, he had to step up his game. He drew on his faith and landed a job at the Army and Air Force Exchange Service, which is a retailer located on bases worldwide. He spent thirty-nine years at the Exchange, representing employees who faced termination and even running for union president.

Navarro was one of the first Philippines Exchange employees to receive special immigrant status to come to the United States because of his exemplary work. While he had to feed a family of four on $4.25 an hour, he stayed upbeat as he chased success.
