

EHS Risk Management and ReadyKey Launch Strategic Partnership to Mobilize Safety Management Systems

Collaboration combines industry-leading, technology-enabled consulting with world-class mobile app platform

SAN FRANCISCO, CA, USA, July 17, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- EHS Risk Management, a leading full-service, digitally enabled consulting firm, and ReadyKey, a no-code mobile application creation platform, have announced a new strategic partnership.

The collaboration will incorporate EHS Risk Management's unique offerings of the EHS Risk Manager, EHS Portal, and EHS Network with ReadyKey's world-class mobile app offer, delivering a modernized mobile application experience for shared clients. By providing mutual clients the ability to manage risk and engage the workforce on the go, the collaboration offers the opportunity to strengthen business mobility, sustainability and performance.

We look forward to providing our customers with even more technology tools that put essential information right at their fingertips, reducing risks and avoiding unnecessary costs.”

Jim Testo, EHS Risk Management

Jim Testo, EHS Risk Management President, said: “With this partnership, EHS Risk Management is extending its technology-enabled services. We look forward to providing our customers with even more technology tools that put essential information right at their fingertips, reducing risks and avoiding unnecessary costs.”

The partnership aims to deliver benefits to clients, including:

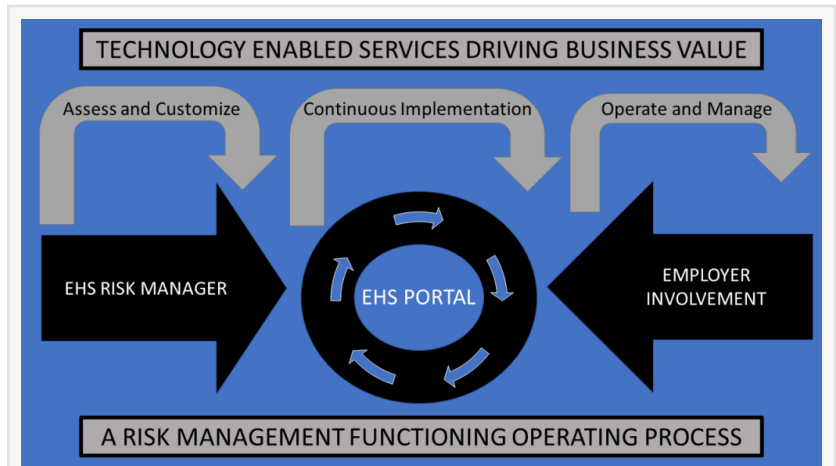

1. Reaching “The Long Tail” of Safety Management Systems Implementation: Clients can leverage branded, fit-for-purpose mobile applications for front-line workforce engagement. By creating easy to access and use applications, organization leaders can be assured that their risk management strategy is reaching all of their stakeholders with the right information, at the right time.

2. Expert Collaboration: By combining the EHS Risk Management's proprietary approach to developing Safety Management Systems with ReadyKey's 12+ years of experience in deploying mobile apps to millions of users, clients will have access to top-tier solutions powered by a world-class mobile tool.

3. Peace of Mind During Emergencies: Safety happens at the front line, and that unfortunately sometimes means when things don't go according to plan. When that happens, EHS Risk Management and ReadyKey clients can rest easier knowing that performance assurance is literally in the hands (and pockets) of front-line stakeholders responding in real time.

The EHS Risk Manager is a business value proposition. Companies of all sizes can reduce costs and support bottom-line performance.

As companies become more proactive in their approach, they begin to recognize and control hazards. Through planning and implementation, injury and incident rates decline.

ReadyKey Vice President of Strategy and Partnerships, Jacob Zollinger (CSP), added, "We are proud to partner with EHS Risk Management in support of mutual clientele to control risks within their organizations. EHS Risk Management's proprietary approach to assessing risk and developing technology-enhanced management strategies only strengthens ReadyKey's world-leading app building CMS. The joining of that expertise and fit-for-purpose content will enable organizations across several industries to create a stronger return on their investment in safety performance."

This strategic partnership between EHS Risk Management and ReadyKey represents a significant step forward in EHS solutions, providing clients with the best of both worlds. The alliance ensures a seamless process from purchasing to implementation, delivering optimal results and enhancing overall client satisfaction.
