LONDON, LONDON, UNITED KINGDOM, July 21, 2023 /EINPresswire.com/ -- New website from acclaimed poet, writer, playwright and electronic musician Daniel Tobias Behan

Acclaimed poet, writer, playwright, and electronic musician Daniel Tobias Behan has launched a brand new website highlighting his work: www.dtbehan.com

Daniel Tobias Behan is an acclaimed London-born writer, poet, playwright and electronic musician. Co-founder of the innovative bass music label Quantum Progression Audio in 2011, he was runner up in the Best Newcomer category in the Nu-Rave Awards that year.

His 2021 vinyl release, the You Time EP on Erupt Records, was playlisted by Apple Music and featured on Traxsource Techno Essentials.

A prolific creative writer since childhood, Behan refocused upon writing in 2016, and performed regularly at the London Irish Centre, Camden. He was interviewed in 2018 by the Irish Post as part of their London Calling podcast series.

Daniel Tobias Behan's first poem to be published by a poetry journal was 'Love Of Mine' in 2019. It featured in Foxglove Journal, proving to be hugely popular. He has since had further poetry published via Foxglove Journal, Writersesque Literary Magazine, and Channillo.

Collaborating with esteemed actor, playwright, and poet Nora Connolly (author of the celebrated play 'Nora And Jim') and filmmaker Patrick O'Mahony in 2020, the trio produced the short film The Visit, based upon Behan's 2019 poem of the same name.

Son of the late Brian Behan – brother of writers/musicians Brendan and Dominic, and father to writer Janet Behan (Daniel's sister) – with Brian Behan being the author of Mother Of All The Behans (based upon the life story of Daniel's grandmother, Kathleen Behan), adapted successfully for the stage from the 1980s until present.
