/EINPresswire.com/ -- WINKYES, known for its commitment to seeking environmentally positive solutions, is thrilled to announce the launch of its groundbreaking service, "Travel Linked to Trees." This new service offers our customers the opportunity to make their travels more sustainable and actively contribute to the fight against climate change.

Through a partnership with the non-profit organization Tree-Nation, WINKYES has introduced a reforestation program that enables customers to offset the carbon emissions from their travels.

Be the change you wish to see in the world."

Mahatma Gandhi

Every time our customers use affiliate links on our website to book trips with leading partners in the tourism industry, they receive a free carbon offset by funding Tree-Nation's reforestation projects.

The concept behind "Travel Linked to Trees" is simple: a portion of the advertising commissions we receive from our affiliate partners is utilized to finance Tree-Nation's reforestation efforts. These projects play a crucial role in creating new forests, capturing CO2, and restoring essential habitats for wildlife.

By engaging with "Travel Linked to Trees," our customers can enjoy their journeys with the knowledge that they are actively contributing to the fight against climate change. Each booking made through our affiliate links not only ensures a carbon offset but also generates a positive impact on the environment.

"WINKYES is dedicated to providing sustainable solutions in the travel industry," said the company spokesperson.

"With the 'Travel Linked to Trees' service, we aim to offer our customers a simple and accessible way to make their travels more eco-friendly. We are excited to collaborate with Tree-Nation to support reforestation and preserve the environment for future generations."

WINKYES invites all conscious travelers to join the "Travel Linked to Trees" movement and make a difference for our planet. Together, we can take significant steps towards a more sustainable future.
