The three primary key messages going along with what CYBERFICTION pursues are 1) Have fun, 2) Let's play, and 3) Just be together. Accordingly, CYBERFICTION forms an operational team that will lead to cooperation and establishes value and identity for the world we will create and own. The operations team will be the leading team to lead the community,

CYBERFICTION aims to be a decentralized community that can create new values and profits through play in the virtual world. Ryan Jeongyoeb Han, the Founder and CEO of CYBERFICTION, expressed their enthusiasm for the upcoming NFT minting launch, stating, "I want to take the initiative in experiencing the time and space of metaverse." He also added, "which completely captures my sparkling spirit away from the dying organism."

The journey of CYBERFICTION has just begun, and the beginning is to create 10,000 digital avatars. They are all young, healthy, and pure figures with a full 3D cyborg concept, and will be another version of an individual who can be replaced after all. Breaking barriers, CYBERFICTION frees the users from the confines of age, gender, region, and status.

As a new era of digital creativity, CYBERFICTION has always been at the forefront of innovative storytelling and artistic expression. The NFT minting on OpenSea ushers in a new era where creators can tokenize their imaginative works, preserving their uniqueness. CYBERFICTION's NFTs will be tradable on the OpenSea marketplace in mid-August, providing enthusiasts with an engaging platform to buy, sell, and exchange these exclusive digital assets within a vibrant global community.

CYBERFICTION encourages art enthusiasts, collectors, and supporters to follow their social media channels and website for updates. As CYBERFICTION embarks on this journey, CYBERFICTION invites all new users to celebrate the shared humanity and the potential in this cyber field. The power of collective support can pave the way for a future full of opportunities. For any inquiries, please contact: cyberfiction.io@gmail.com
