Taking inspiration from the ongoing movement for more dynamic and engaging experiences at events, Swayble has fused functionality with creativity to produce a seating solution that is both practical and novel. The result is an extraordinary balance of style and comfort that guarantees a memorable experience for event attendees.

“

The Swayble is hand made and hugely versatile, with literally hundreds of customisation options available.”

Sarah Hensby, founder of Swayble

"Swayble is always looking for ways to bring innovation to the table," quite literally," said Sarah Hensby, founder of Swayble. "We believe that our product, combining the usefulness of a table with the fun of swinging chairs, will provide a much-needed shake-up to the event seating landscape."

Built with quality and resilience in mind, the swinging chairs are designed to withstand heavy use, making them a perfect fit for high-traffic events. The tables and chairs can also be customised in a variety of colours and materials, catering to the specific aesthetics and themes of different events and spaces.

"Our aim was to create a product that was not only unique but could be personalised to each customer and for each individual event's decor," Hensby added. "We want event planners and office designers to view our products as an extension of their creativity and a way to make their spaces even more memorable."

Swayble's game-changing product went on sale in 2022 and has since been featured as part of the BBC Top of the Pops stand at Gardener's World, and a custom ball-pool variation sits at the heart of the Lead Forensics HQ in London.
