Barrel Proof, a popular whiskey and beer bar concept originating from New Orleans, will occupy a spacious ~3,500 square-foot interior and a covered outdoor patio area. The venue, designed by Nashville-based Remick Architecture, will exude a rustic charm offering patrons an inviting and cozy ambiance.

Barrel Proof has partnered with Eshelman Construction as the general contractor for the project, ensuring the highest standards of craftsmanship and attention to detail throughout the construction process. Remick Architecture, known for its innovative and thoughtful designs, will bring its expertise to create an exceptional space that blends seamlessly into the neighborhood's dynamic atmosphere.

Barrel Proof will be located close to the forthcoming DeSano Pizzeria Napoletana, becoming a focal point in downtown Nashville's thriving culinary and entertainment scene. Building on the success of its flagship location on Magazine Street in New Orleans' Lower Garden District, Barrel Proof will offer an impressive beverage lineup featuring dozens of beers and hundreds of whisky options, providing an unmatched selection for whiskey and beer enthusiasts in the area.

Liam Deegan, founder and creative director of Barrel Proof, expressed his excitement about expanding the Barrel Proof concept to Nashville. "We are thrilled to bring Barrel Proof to the growing Germantown neighborhood," said Deegan. "With its rich history and diverse culture, Nashville is the perfect city for us to showcase our dedication to exceptional hospitality experiences."

LeBlanc + Smith's portfolio includes acclaimed establishments such as Sylvain, Barrel Proof, Anna's, The Will and The Way, and Hotel Chloe in New Orleans. Managing partner Jason Sorbet will lead cocktail list design appealing to diverse palettes in concert with Chef Todd Pulsinelli creating a delicious menu perfect for late-night dining.

"As whiskey lovers ourselves, the Eshelman Construction team is excited to partner on this project, bringing a success of The Crescent City venture to Music City, which is sure to delight patrons by delivering incredible beverage concepts and tasteful dining experiences," said Andrew Eshelman, Founder & President of Eshelman Construction. "The Barrel Proof project marks another milestone for our portfolio, enriching the Nashville community and growing its culinary business."

Barrel Proof is slated to open in Fall 2023 at 1010 Fourth Ave N.

Portfolio projects for Eshelman Construction include Mother's Ruin, the Patsy Cline Museum, and The Wash, just to name a few. Eshelman Construction was honored by Urban Land Institute Nashville with the 2023 Excellence in Development Award and The People's Choice Award.
