

European Flooring-USA's Top Luxury Flooring Destination for Architects/Designers

European Flooring Becomes Go-To Luxury Flooring Destination For Nation's Top Designers, Architects & Custom Home Builders

MIAMI, FLORIDA, UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, August 2, 2023

/EINPresswire.com/ -- European Flooring, the epitome of luxury and elegance in the American hardwood flooring industry, is becoming a firm favorite of leading interior designers, architects, and custom home builders across the nation. As the proud recipient of the coveted Luxe RED Award for Best Flooring for the second consecutive year, European Flooring stands unrivaled in regards to craftsmanship, superior quality, and uncompromising safety in the world of high end wide plank hardwood flooring.

Designers, architects, and renovation specialists know that building a new home or remodeling an existing one is a momentous occasion. Those that firmly believe in the "quality over quantity" approach are all turning to one luxury flooring retailer to meet all of their building needs. European Flooring has been transforming dreams into reality across the country with their exclusive selection of Legno Bastone wide plank hardwood floors. Renowned for their award-winning aesthetics, this European-sourced hardwood brings the essence of grandeur and sophistication to every space they grace.

Luxury Hardwood Flooring

Brunello

But beyond the allure of refinement lies the true essence of European Flooring – a continued commitment to uncompromising quality. Aside from being sourced from 100% certified Grand French Oak from old growth European forests, Legno Bastone hardwood offers incredible characteristics that provide unmatched levels of durability and longevity. At the heart of their flooring lies the marine-grade Baltic birch plywood substrate. Designed to withstand everyday wear and tear while protecting against humidity and moisture damage, this marine-grade core sets their floors leagues apart from the rest as it caters to all of America's diverse climates.

Chianti

European Flooring's dedication to exceptional quality extends to the finish that crowns each plank. With two layers of an all-natural hard-wax oil, UV cured and pressed to perfection, their protective finish ensures the wood's beauty endures through generations. Each plank is more than capable of remaining elegant and resilient no matter what hits it - spills, jumps, drops, or any other event that comes with an active household. Offering a 25-year finish warranty, the highest in the industry, their floors become not just a luxury but an investment in the longevity and magnificence of any home.

As a family-oriented company, European Flooring understands how important the safety of loved ones is. Their flooring is crafted with adhesives free from harmful chemicals and volatile organic compounds (VOCs), making it a safe haven for families to live, play, and create cherished memories together.

Although European Flooring is based in South Florida, the company works hard to ensure their products are widely accessible by offering nationwide delivery and interactive service. European Flooring's user-friendly website allows designers, architects, and renovators to explore their breathtaking collections online, request free samples, or anything else needed to envision how the flooring will elevate their space. Once the perfect wood has been found, European Flooring provides direct-to-home shipping to make the journey from selection to installation seamless and gratifying.

"We take immense pride in the recognition received through the Luxe RED Award for Best Flooring, an accolade that underlines our dedication to crafting the finest wide plank hardwood floors in the industry," said Andrew Cohen, managing partner of European Flooring. "We invite discerning homeowners, interior designers, architects, and custom home builders to experience the pinnacle of luxury through our hardwood flooring."

European Flooring's commitment to greatness continues to redefine luxury living, bringing timeless elegance and lasting beauty to homes across the nation. Whether you are embarking on a new home project or revamping your existing sanctuary, European Flooring will elevate your space to new heights of opulence and refinement.
