roundtable discussions, and other networking opportunities on what it means to pay employees (and management) fairly and competitively.

Data-driven insights on how to effectively drive organizational success through strategic and actionable solutions - tailored to financial institutions, by financial institutions.

How to design, build, and streamline measurable and sustainable corporate processes, templates, and annual plans for banks and credit unions that drive organizational performance.

Thought leadership and subject matter expertise surrounding talent acquisition, retention strategies, performance-based pay, incentive structures, executive compensation, regulatory compliance, and emerging legal trends in the financial sector.

"It could take years to learn everything that you will learn in these 3 days."

The conceptualization of this conference has been thirteen years in the making. "Since BalancedComp was formed in 2010, my vision was for the company to be a thought leader, HR advocate, and catalyst for change as we lead Human Resource professionals to become invaluable business partners for financial institutions," said Christie Summervill, Founder and CEO of BalancedComp. "This year takes on a whole new meaning. We leveled up and created FinComp '23 to be an industry-first, fast-tracked platform dedicated to advancing compensation practices across the financial industry."

The conference is open to all financial HR professionals of all experience levels and any stage in their career. Registration is open at fincomp.balancedcomp.com. Be sure to follow on social media for the latest updates and announcements.
